Three Quizzed As Witnesses In Hit-Run Case

Three youths were questioned last weekend as witnesses to the hit and run accident Oct. 10 which injured August Nicholas Rauxet, 15-year-old St. Stanislaus School eighth-grader.

The witnesses, Joe Smith of Bay St. Louis, a student at Mississippi Southern College, Hattiesburg; Raymond Strong of Bay St. Louis and Pat Fury of Napoleon, said in a statement to City Commissioner Cyril Glover they had attended the Bay High School football game with Long Beach Oct. 10 and had left the stadium in Fury's car.

The three, whose accounts of the accident were alike, said they drove around town for about 10 minutes after the game and were on Necaise Ave. at the Uman Ave. intersection when a two-tone brown and tan 1958 Ford sedan with an aerial in the middle of the back drove past at a fairly high speed.

The youths turned onto Uman Ave., they continued, and were following the sedan from an estimated distance of 200 to 300 feet. The sedan was at a point near Lorraine Flower Shop when the youths saw a figure flung up in front of the car and across the street, apparently after having been struck by the car.

Several cars had stopped at the scene of the accident, the witnesses said. The three drove on to the fire station where they reported the accident to police.

From the fire station the youths saw a car similar to the one which apparently had hit the Rauxet youth turn into the Youth Center parking lot. They walked across the street to the parking lot and were examining the car, which also was a brown and tan 1958 Ford Sedan with an aerial in the middle of the back. The driver apparently had entered the Youth Center.

The apparent owners of the car, a man and woman, entered the parking lot in a convertible and questioned the youths as to their examination of the sedan.

The man and woman left the convertible in the parking lot and were driving away in the sedan, the youths reported, when a fireman stopped them and asked to examine the sedan. The man was questioned by police and a girl who reportedly had been driving the sedan also was brought outside to the questioning. Both the man and the girl said the sedan had not, to their knowledge, been involved in the accident.

Commissioner Glover said today that no criminal charges had been filed in the case because of insufficient evidence. He added that investigation of the case is being continued.

The youthful accident victim still is being kept at home, his mother, Mrs. August Rauxet Jr. of 116 Booker St., said. He suffered a severe concussion, severe bruises of the right leg, facial contusions and shock in the accident.

Report Is Heard by Supervisors

Hospital Architect Says Plans Still Not Finished

Plans for a Hancock County hospital to be built with Hill-Burton Act funds still are not completed, Wilfred Dawson, architect, told the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday.

Mr. Dawson was asked repeatedly at the meeting to say exactly when the plans would be completed. He finally said, "I think I can say now with safety that they will be on Mr. Fowler's desk before the end of the week."

He referred to Foster Fowler, executive secretary of the Mississippi Commission on Hospital Care, whose office must approve the plans before construction may begin.

The architect added that he had completed all but the mechanical and electrical sections of the specific drawings. He said that the mechanical and electrical engineers had slowed his progress by failing to get information to him on time.

Beat 5 Supervisor R. G. Hubbard Jr. told Mr. Dawson that he earlier had implied to the board that the plans were near completion and would be ready by Sept. 15.

The hospital plans originally had been scheduled for completion in July. Then Mr. Dawson promised they would be completed within 10 days after Sept. 2. Later he said he had every reason to believe that advertisement for bids could begin by Oct. 15, the date he originally had set for such action.

Before advertisement may begin the plans must be studied by the state Commission on Hospital Care and all ordered changes must be made. Then they must be approved by the board of supervisors.

Oct. 9 Mr. Dawson told the Echo, "I am still waiting for final information from my structural, mechanical and electrical engineers. I hope this will be received and coordinated by me in time to present it to the board within two weeks."

The architect was told that if the plans were not ready by the end of this week the matter would be discussed at the supervisors' meeting Monday with Dawson and all others involved in the plans present.

Apparently referring to an article in the Oct. 9 issue of the Echo, Mr. Dawson, visibly agitated by the remarks of the supervisors, said, "I read the publicity given to me by the paper last week and I think you might call that paper a slender sheet, since I was given more publicity than Miss America."

He did not attempt to refute anything said in that issue of the Echo.

In other business the supervisors presented damage estimates to O. L. Brooks, land supervisor for the Tennessee Transmission Line, contractors, for road damage which occurred during the installation this summer of a 30-inch pipeline in Hancock County.

The total estimate of $13,994.30 was broken down into $10,990.15 damages in Beat 5, $1,758.65 damages in Beat 1 and $650 damages in Beat 4.

The supervisors approved a $99,000 fiscal year budget presented by Hancock County Hospital Administrator Edgar A. Little. Hospital Board Treasurer T. T. Reboul Jr. said the hospital was "in very good shape financially."

Frank Shaw appeared before the supervisors as a representative of the Hancock County Soil Erosion Board and asked for funds to cover the cost of labor involved in transporting a drag line, donated to the board by the federal government, from Arkansas to Hancock County.

The supervisors previously had donated a flat $400 to aid the board in transporting the drag line. Sam L. Favre Jr., attorney for the board of supervisors, told Mr. Shaw that although the supervisors legally were able to donate a flat amount to an organization, as in the case of the $400 donation, it was not able to add to this fund for specific services.

Two bids for construction of a state aid road project in Beat 1 were taken under advisement. H and F Engineering Co. offered a bid of $117,718.76, A. A. Bush Co. offered a bid of $118,826.66.

Gull's Paradise Lost

The Eady American magazine tells of the sad plight of the seagulls of St. Augustine, Fla., which, according to report, "are starving to death in the midst of plenty, because they have forgotten how to fish."

The gulls used to live on the waste from the local shrimp fleet. They didn't have to catch fish—or teach their young the techniques of fishing. Then the shrimp fleet moved away to Key West and paradise was lost. The Eady American says: "A few of the birds had the intuition to follow the fleet. A few more were enterprising enough, or had enough instinct left, to take to the sea once more. But many of them can be seen sitting sadly where they were left, starving to death because no one will bring them shrimp, while out in the Gulf there is a sea of food for the taking."

These gulls were victims of the gull equivalent of a welfare state. Their needs were met in return for little or no effort on their part—and the result was a steady attrition of the qualities and abilities that go to make self-reliance and independence. And what the welfare state does to the lower orders of life, it does to the human animal as well.

Facts About Nuclear Power

Going by some of the political charges one hears, an uninformed person would be justified in believing that the electric utilities of this country have turned a cold shoulder to the production of power from nuclear energy. The critics who intimate this always add that the only way out is through a government crash program of socialized nuclear energy development, at a stratospheric cost to the taxpayers.

Therefore, a little factual history is in order.

Private enterprise was not allowed to develop nuclear power until 1954, when Congress passed the necessary enabling law. In the four subsequent years, private enterprise has undertaken 15 nuclear plant construction projects involving a utility company investment of more than $500 million. Three of these plants are now in operation; six are under construction or contract, and the remaining six are in various stages of planning.

Furthermore, the utilities have undertaken 12 other nuclear research, development and study projects calling for continuing expenditures of additional large sums of money. Some of these 12 are expected to lead into nuclear power plant construction.

Finally, interest in nuclear energy is not limited to a few utilities. As of a late date, 123 of the companies were participating in one or more of the 27 projects, and still others are involved in independent studies.

This, it should be remembered, is what is going on in a new and almost incredibly complex field of enterprise which is still filled with mysteries and unknowns. All kinds of problems, both economic and scientific, remain to be solved. No man can say with certainty, for instance, what type or types of reactors can safely produce nuclear power at minimum cost. The utilities are determined to find out—and they will.

Larger Wildlife Area Set Up in Four Counties

A Needed Constant Reminder

Deadline Near For Soil Bank

Farmers who have received conservation reserve payment rates were reminded today by Miss Mary E. Favre, office manager of the Hancock County Agricultural and Conservation Committee office, that Friday is the deadline for returning the applications to the county office.

Under the Soil Bank for 1959, the first step a farmer had to take toward participating in the conservation reserve was to ask the ASC county committee to establish maximum annual payment rates for his farm. The deadline for making such a request is past.

The farmer then decides how much eligible land he wants to put in the program, how long he wants his contract to run and the rate of annual payment at which he will offer his land. This rate may be less than the maximum but not more. After entering this information on the application form, he returns the form to the ASC county committee for final approval. This is the step that must be taken by Friday.

Miss Favre points out that priority in accepting applications will be given to farmers who make the best offers. Thus, the farmer who offers land at less than the maximum rate set for his farm will have a better chance of having his application accepted if there are not enough funds available to cover all applications.

After the applications are returned to the ASC county committee, contracts that can be accepted under the regulations will be offered to farmers for signature.

The report noted that tolls of $66,046.20 were paid during September by drivers of 240,323 vehicles crossing the Pascagoula toll bridge. The Pascagoula bridge, since its opening Oct. 31, 1954, has received $2,791,316.53 in tolls from 9,489,929 vehicles.

New Look Planned For Oyster Plants

A new look for the oyster plants in Hancock County is being planned by the Hancock County Oyster Plant Association, according to a report issued by Secretary James H. Linder.

The big change planned will be the enclosure of existing plants with concrete and steel. Plans will also be made to build new plants in a different manner, this time by using concrete, steel, and a new type of shell.

Existing plants will have new enclosures which enable them to wash, rinse and pack oysters and equipment in only one of the plants.

Party Set For Parents Club

A "back" party, an evening of games and fun, and an abundance of refreshments will highlight the Halloween activities at Gulfport School in Lake Shore under the auspices of the Parents' Club of the school.

An added attraction has been planned by Robert Ireland, sixth grade teacher. Mr. Ireland said his presentation will remain secret until Halloween night.

No admission will be charged for parents and students attending the affair. Mrs. C. F. Schwartz, president reported that the party is planned in an effort to provide wholesome entertainment for young persons of the area.

County Agent Notes

By HOWARD SIMMONS

Planting Legumes

If Bermuda is not too heavy, white clover does well with it. On hillside, where Bermuda is not too heavy, crimson clover does well.

One of the best plants to use on heavy Bermuda sods, especially on bottom land, is wild winter peas. The wild winter peas can come up and survive in heavy Bermuda where other legumes, particularly clovers, have died out.

Winter peas will volunteer back each year and get through even if the Bermuda is not grazed or clipped off.

You can plant the winter peas in this way: sow them out on top of the ground and get a slow stand. Seeding rate for this method of planting is 50 to 75 pounds an acre.

Remember no legume does well without potash and phosphate. Most land outside the delta will need additional phosphate and potash if the best growth is to be had.

Orchard Notes

If you did not use the DDT spray method of controlling peach tree borers in your orchard, now is a good time to use the carbaryl-dichloride method.

If you have made your applications of the DDT spray, check the trees and if you find any signs of borers, use the carbaryl-dichloride. For directions on mixing and applying this chemical, check the Mississippi spray calendar available at the county agent's office.

If you are planning to plant some new fruit trees, now is the time to check on varieties you want to select and prepare the land.

Corn Marketing

This has been an exceptionally good year for Mississippi corn producers. The state average yield is estimated at 32 bushels an acre.

Corn marketing facilities are good in the state and all Mississippi grown corn is needed in the state. But buyers cannot handle and store all the corn produced in Mississippi at harvest time.

For growers to get the best price for their corn, marketing must spread over a long period of time. If corn is selling for less than $1.25 a bushel, better think about storing it on your farm or putting it in the government loan.

Better yet, think about how much you would get for your corn if you feed it to livestock on your own farm — it may bring $2 a bushel or more marketed through livestock.

Young Persons Are Invited To Carnival on Halloween

The young people of Bay St. Louis and surrounding areas are invited to attend the Bay Central School PTA annual Halloween Carnival in the cafeteria of S. J. Ingram elementary school on Ulman Ave. from 6 until 8:30 p.m. Oct. 31.

Mrs. W. P. McCutcheon, general chairman, said there will be entertainment for the youngsters and their parents as well as a wide variety of gift articles for sale.

Included in the entertainment are a "horror room," a fortune-telling booth, balloons, a fish-pulling, "apple-on-a-string," grab bag and pumpkin throw game. For adults, there will be a florist booth with potted plants and flowers for sale. White elephants, handmade gifts, home baked pies, cakes and candies also will be sold.

After the carnival, the PTA will sponsor a dance at the Bay St. Louis Youth Center for older students. The dance is scheduled for 7:30 and will end at 10:30.

The affair is sponsored annually by the organization in cooperation with a national plan to give young people a planned Halloween evening.

Mrs. McCutcheon requested that donation slips issued by her to parents last week be returned immediately so final plans may be completed.

Kiln Cagers Lose to Sellers, 53-52; Girls Are Victorious

In one of the most thrilling basketball double-headers this year the Sellers High School boys eked out a 53-52 victory over the Kiln High School team while the Kiln girls scored an easy 38-30 victory over the Sellers girls Tuesday, in the filled Kiln Gym.

Coch James Johnson started an all Necaise lineup with Douglas and Lamar, brothers, and Barney, John and Donald, all cousins. Lining up for Sellers were J. T. Ladner, Clinton Ladner, Calvin Shaw, Berlin Necaise and Wayne Necaise. In the first quarter both teams were really rolling but because of Sellers' height, the Wildcats fell behind 11 points when the quarter ended.

In the next quarter the Wildcats came up with 7 points before Sellers had a good grip on the ball. Sellers held the lead until the last 20 seconds of the first half.

Then Barney Necaise got the ball and dribbled down to score the two points that tied the game; however, in doing this, he fouled just as the whistle blew, giving Sellers two free shots which they made for a two-point lead.

In the third quarter both Lamar and Donald Necaise fouled out for Kiln. McCoy Peterson, a wiry, aggressive transfer from Dedaux, came in and helped control the front court. In the quarter any time Sellers scored, Kiln would, too. Sellers fell behind for a few seconds but came up in a hurry and passed the Wildcats. Kiln pulled up to within one point of victory when the final whistle blew.
